FREE GUIDE · DISCIPLINE OVER MOTIVATION

THE FIRE LOG

30 days to build a fire that doesn't go out.

Inside: the 5 fires explained · find your necessity · choose your one log · a printable 30-day tracker · what to do when the fire is dying.

Print it. Stick it on your wall. One log a day.

PART 1

The 5 fires

Everyone starts with a fire. Most people let it die. Here is what each one really does.

Motivation

BURNS BRIGHT · BURNS OUT

A huge fire on day one. Then it rains, you scroll your phone, and it's gone. Use it to start. Never count on it to continue.

Discipline

ONE LOG EVERY DAY

Small, boring, unstoppable. It never looks impressive on day 3. On day 365 it's the only fire still burning.

Ego

GOOD EGO VS BAD EGO

Good ego turns every "you can't" into fuel. Bad ego stares at the mirror while the fire dies. Same fire, different direction.

Obsession

BURNS EVERYTHING

The biggest fire you'll ever see. It also burns the wood you needed for tomorrow. Powerful, if you plan the wood.

Necessity

NO WOOD · NO LIGHTER · NO CHOICE

When someone you love is cold, you find a way. It's the strongest fire there is, because quitting isn't an option.

Motivation starts it. Necessity explains it.
Discipline keeps it alive.

PART 2

Find your necessity

Motivation asks "do I feel like it?". Necessity doesn't ask. Answer honestly, nobody will read this but you.

01

Who is cold if your fire goes out?

Your family, your kid, your future self, the version of you that you promised to become.

02

Where are you in 1 year if nothing changes?

Same body, same bank account, same excuses. Be specific.

03

What will you stop feeding the fire with?

The phone at 6 am, "tomorrow", the snooze button, the people who say you can't.

My fire burns for _____.

PART 3

Choose your one log

A fire doesn't need a tree. It needs one log, every single day. Your log is one habit.

1

Only one log

Not five new habits. One. You'll add more wood when the fire is strong.

2

So small you can't say no

If it takes more than 10 minutes on your worst day, it's too big.

- 10 push-ups
- 1 page of a book
- 5 min walk
- Bed made before 7 am
- No phone for the first 20 min
- Write 3 lines

3

Same time, same place

"After I brush my teeth, I do 10 push-ups next to the bed." Attach it to something you already do.

4

Never miss twice

Missing one day is an accident. Missing two is the start of a new habit: quitting.

My log

Every day I will _____

After _____

Starting on _____ Signed _____

PART 4 · PRINT THIS PAGE

30 days. 30 logs.

Colour the flame every day you add your log. Don't break the chain.

1	2	3	4	5
6	7 · week 1	8	9	10
11	12	13	14 · week 2	15
16	17	18	19	20
21 · week 3	22	23	24	25
26	27	28	29	30 · done

The day the fire almost died, and what kept it alive:

PART 5

When the fire is dying

There will be a day around day 4, and another around day 12, when you don't want to. That's normal. Here's the plan.

1 Shrink the log, don't skip it

No time for 10 push-ups? Do 1. A small log still keeps the fire alive. Zero puts it out.

2 The 2-minute start

Tell yourself you'll do it for 2 minutes only. Starting is the hardest part, once you start you usually keep going.

3 Go back to page 3

Read your answers. Remember who is cold if your fire goes out.

4 Missed a day? Never miss twice.

Don't restart at day 1, don't feel guilty. Just add a log today.

Motivation is a feeling.
Discipline is a decision.

Made it to day 30?

Comment "DAY 30" under my latest Short. I read every comment, and the best stories become the next video.

New fire every few days · Subscribe so you don't miss it